and not affective anyway.

SENATOR MAHONEY: Well, then this would leave us back to the present position that if you are in mid-term you could run for another post, right?

SENATOR CAVANAUGH: It doesn't affect that at all. All it would do, Senator Mahoney, is prohibit you from, for example, being County Attorney and serving in the Legislature. Being eligible to hold those two offices concurrently. You could still run for them.

PRESIDENT: Senator Duis.

SENATOR DUIS: Mr. President, I don't mean to break in on the debate, but if we are going to have the motions to return, and do you suppose that we might be able to suspend the ruling, of say in here on Final Reading, because what we are doing here is were requiring people to sit in their seats to listen to debate on bills, and we're off again on one of these searching parties as to how much of this bill we are debating, on the return for the specific amendment and I would like to have us stick right with that if we might please if we are going to have to stay on Final Reading to do it.

PRESIDENT: Now, wait a minute, Senator Duis, I'm not sure that I understood what you...

SENATOR DUIS: What I'm getting at, if the return is for a specific amendment I would to ..like to have the debate stay right on that specific amendment. Otherwise we will have to relax and get this bill back maybe clear over to General File so we don't have to sit here on Final Reading listening to the debate of an entire bill.

Now in Senator Burbach's case, if he doesn't win he still is a member of the Legislature. We can.. we want to retain that provision in the law. The question was, of Senator Cavanaugh, that the Attorney General said we should reinstate, as I recall, the stricken matter with a couple three words added. Senator Cavanaugh question I thought from Senator Mahoney was. Is this in your amendment? And I didn't get whether there is or isn't. If it isn't, we want to retain that, will you answer that. I think I've put a little more understanding Turn him on why don't you.

SENATOR CAVANAUGH: The answer is yes.

SENATOR SYAS: Bring it out. Senator Carpenter and then Senator Whitney.

SENATOR CARPENTER: Well, I didn't..he may have answered the question I'm going to ask. As the bill now stands. Without any
